

Lew Barnett

November 26, 1936 - November 24, 2020

Alan Lewis Barnett, loving son and brother (Harry and Jeanne Saletan), and dedicated husband to Linda of 33 years, passed away early Tuesday morning, November 24th, just two days before his 84th birthday. Alan, or “Lew” as everyone knew him, was born in Newark, New Jersey on November 26th, 1936. After receiving his BA from Rutgers University, and then his MA from New York University, Lew went on to teach chemistry as an adjunct professor at Austin Community College for 43 years. In 1987, Lew married Linda Golding, and together they created a loving and caring home in which Lew took great care of Linda every moment of their lives together. Lew was a pillar of every community he belonged to, including the Jewish community of Austin, TX, and in particular, Congregation Tiferet Israel, Lew and Linda’s spiritual home, where Lew was a committed member and generous supporter for many years. In addition to being wholeheartedly devoted to his Jewish faith, including the punctilious observance of the Commandments, Lew was also devoted to ensuring the wellbeing of others, whether through teaching, supporting or just showing how much he cared. Lew Barnett will be sorely missed by all who knew him, and the ideals and values he lived by – compassion, intellectual excellence, religious devotion, community building and family love, will be ideals and values we shall all seek to achieve.

“ Lew was always a friendly, smiling face at the Rio Grande Campus. Though we worked in different departments, we were both in science and our offices were just a few doors apart so I saw Lew often. I was fortunate enough to visit with Lew from time to time when he came down to the Biology Labs to check in with my colleagues who had worked with him for many decades by the time I arrived (over 15years ago). It was a warm and welcoming team of ACC “originals” who shared a very special bond with each other and shared their knowledge, good humor and high value for education with our community. I have no doubt that Lew left a positive and lasting impression on all who knew him, including many scores of students over the years. May his memory be a blessing!
