

Donald Alvin Levin

August 17, 1939 - September 21, 2022

Don lived in Austin for 50 years. The entire time he never stopped pursuing his passion of research and teaching at the University of Texas in the Department of Botany, which later became the Department of Integrative Biology, where he was a tenured professor. His hard work and passion culminated in his designation as an eminent scholar in Evolutionary Biology.

Born in Chicago, Illinois, Don was a forever Cubs fan. He has inspired and influenced many students, colleagues, friends, and even strangers and leaves a remarkable imprint on the world. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

In lieu of flowers donations may be made in Don's memory to Hospice Austin's Christopher House: <https://www.hospiceaustin.org/get-involved/donate/donation-form/>

A live stream of his funeral service will appear on the Austin Natural Funerals Facebook page, <https://www.facebook.com/AustinNaturalFunerals>, shortly before 10 am on Sunday, September 25th. A Facebook account is not required in order to watch. If a pop-up window appears asking you to log in click "not now" and the live stream will be available for you to watch. If the "not now" button does not appear, scroll down on the page and it will come up for you to select.

“ We only recently learned of the passing of Dr. Don Levin, and send condolences and hopes for comfort to Georgia and the rest of Don's family. We worked with him for many years. The University, and indeed, Austin, will not be the same without him.

“ Our hearts go out to Georgia and family. We were welcomed to Austin by both Don and Georgia some 26 years ago when Alan joined the Botany department and Georgia found us our forever home in Austin. So thankful to both for welcoming us and always continuing the kindness. What a wonderful legacy Don leaves behind. Hugs.

“ Guy and I shared friendship for many years with Don. He and Guy talked 'Chicago' childhood with lots of memories, comparing notes, ever-surprised and happy that they found each other in Austin at UT.
