“ I just learned of Howard's passing. I saw him most mornings out and about in the neighborhood walking our dogs. We were both early risers and I so enjoyed talking with him about current events and rubbing Mac's ears while we visited. I was worried about him as I had texted him and sent a card with no response. Now I understand why. Dang it. God speed Howard. I miss you and Mac every day. I hope Mac finds a good home.

“ I had the pleasure of shooting with Howard on many occasions at Capital City Trap & Skeet Range. If you ever car pooled with him, you tended to learn about his political convictions, his dog, and how he approached sporting clays. I enjoyed sitting with him over lunch at Wrigglies, and will miss him and his stories. The good die young.

“ I had the pleasure of working with Howard for a couple of years before he retired. And it was a pleasure, because while he could be challenging as a team member and we had differences in political opinions he was an open, sincere, honest and engaging person. There was no pretense or artifice about him. You knew what he thought and how he felt. Right now I'm sure that Howard is deciding what to do next, go shooting, ride his bike or catch-up with all the dearly loved dogs that have been a part of his life. Rest in peace, Howard. You may be gone much too early, but you will not be forgotten by your friends and colleagues.

“ Howard will be missed by all his friends in Sun City, especially the 3 o'clock dog park gang. He was truly a unique man and you always knew where you stood with Howard, but he had a huge heart. I am fortunate to have known Howard and even more fortunate to have been his friend. We will miss you!

“ Howard was a major part of my life growing up. He was a life long friend. We grew up together, hung out together, traveled together and lived together for a while. He was a unique guy, who I will always be proud to brag that he was my friend.

Just like Larry said he was a good friend, who had the right stuff. He had Detroit Steel in him too. Yet Texas was where he finally hung his hat.

May he be at peace and rest in God's eternal hands.

I had the pleasure of working with Howard and he was a very dear heart. Always kind and thoughtful. He had his opinions and political views, but we loved him for it. The laughter we all shared will never be forgotten. He was a great friend indeed. May he rest in peace.

I met and got to work with Howard for about a year when I moved from California to Houston TX on the Sasol LCCP program. I had a huge CA flag hanging in my office.... He used to love to give me a hard time for being a Californian :-). But the fact that I loved guns like he did, gave us plenty to talk about. He was a good guy and I miss all the conversations I've had with him. Rest in peace buddy. - Brandon Schilling (Fairfield, CA)

I had the privilege to know Howard. My first year in the US back in 2006, he was there to guide me through the EPC business in America (and which nice restos are good in the Westchase district Houston area). He never held back in saying that all are equal, i.e., see everybody eye to eye regardless of race, ethnicity, color, belief and education (no sir, no ma'am - forget about your Japanese work ethic or Asian background - this is the US). He's very helpful, accommodating and fun-loving guy. I wish I could have known him earlier and worked with him longer. He will surely be missed.
