“ My brother Bob and I were six years apart so once I was off to college we didn't see each other much. But, he reminded me that I was the one who taught him how to dance. In our "later" years, when we found ourselves together at a wedding or at an event that had a band, we would get out on the dance floor and do the old peoples' version of rock and roll. We had fun and I will always think lovingly of my dance partner.

“ I'm saddened to hear of the passing of our dear Cities' 97 colleague. A sweet and generous man; when my son was born Bob gave Will a gift of stock that resulted in a nice return on his investment. Also, I still have the voice over talent check that he went to bat for when one of his clients went out of business before settling up. Never cashed it. My cut (following the company's bankruptcy proceedings): $.02. So, I can literally say "for my two cents," Bob was the best. RIP old friend. Steven John.
